Police believe rare gun linked to senior's murder

PISTOL Police have recovered a handgun they believe to be connected to the recent murder of 77-year-old Lawrence Bosiak in a stairwell of his Clareview apartment building.

The weapon was recovered from the area of the crime scene, and officers believe it is directly connected to the homicide.

The pistol is a Franz Stock Berlin and is quite rare. Investigators believe the weapon may have been stolen and are asking anyone who might recognize the weapon to call.

Police found Bosiak dead in a stairwell shortly before 11 p.m. Sunday.

He lived at Clarewood Apartments, 3757 139 Ave. The two buildings are multi-family rental units built six years ago next to Clareview town centre, a skate park and a hockey arena.

Police aren't confirming a motive for the murder, but speculation says it was a botched robbery.

Trevor Forest gets a playful pat from pal Kevin Pollitt who played a key role in saving Forest's life during a hockey game. Forest, 58, and his teammates were at the NAIT arena yesterday to talk about how defibrillators can save lives.

After Trevor Forest's hockey buddies gave him a shock to the heart that saved his life, he thought it only proper that he take them out for a round of beers.

The 58-year-old forward laced up his skates the evening of Oct. 14, just like he has for the past 35 years, and skated onto the ice at the NAIT arena for some hockey action.

After a few shifts, Forest returned to the bench, turned blue and slumped over.

"All I remember was sitting down, then waking up in the ambulance. There was no warning," he said.

"It was a far more serious game that night than we usually play."

Unbeknownst to him, he was in the grip of sudden cardiac arrest, which could have taken his life, were it not for the quick reaction of his teammates.

"The machine is the true hero," said humble,

Kevin Pollit, who helped remove Forest's shoulder pads and zapped his endangered friend with a portable defibrillator.

The downtown campus has six HeartSafe portable automated external defibrillators hanging on its walls.

Doctors and EMS that treated Forest credit the small machine for saving his life.

"The only treatment for this life-threatening rhythm is for the heart to be shocked back to normal, and the only thing that can do that is a defibrillator," said Dr. Evan Lockwood.

"Without it, a patient will die within minutes."

It's been two weeks since Forest's brush with death, and though it'll be a month before he can lace up and help his team out just yet, he's been sitting on the sidelines cheering on his heroes.

"I took the boys out for beer the other night — a cheap price to pay for my life back," he said.

Health care system takes another shot

JEFF CUMMINGS

Another Alberta health professional has been found re-using syringes on patients to administer medication through an intravenous line.

Alberta's acting medical officer of health,

Dr. Gerry Predy, said he was informed about the case in Lloydminster, 250 kilometres east of Edmonton on the Saskatchewan border.

Predy, who says he is working with Saskatchewan's medical officer in this latest case, says a doctor was found to re-use syringes in hospitals in Lloydminster and Vermillion.

The physician alerted the College of Physicians and Surgeons about the practice, along with both of the province's medical officers, said Predy.

"Until we complete an assessment of the situation, we cannot estimate the potential risk to patients," said Predy in a statement.

"However, in light of the events in High Prairie, we want to notify the public that we are investigating."

Predy has requested a meeting with medical officers across the country to discuss a national strategy on tackling the issue.

Man hospitalized after being shot

INJURIES A 27-year-old man was rushed to hospital after he was shot north of downtown early yesterday.

Police were called to an apartment on 106 Avenue and 105 Street just before 1 a.m., with a report that the man had been shot.

Tactical officers and downtown beat officers found a man bleeding in an alley behind the apartment suffering non-life threatening injuries.

Investigations revealed that more shots had been fired outside the building, and that the shooters fled before police arrived.

The victim remains in hospital. METRO EDMONTON

Officials stand by Taser use

VICTORIA HANDSIDES
victoria.handsides@metronews.ca

As government officials stand by police use of Tasers, friends of Trevor Grimolfson are wondering why it was used as a first response, and not a last resort.

David Williams knew Grimolfson for 20 years, and agrees that police and bystanders had every right to be afraid of him.

"Trevor was a big guy. If they felt threatened, I can understand why they used the Taser," he said. "But it's causing heart attacks and killing people, and I don't know why they still have it out there."

Grimolfson, 38, was Tasered twice by west end officers on Wednesday afternoon, after he allegedly flew into a drug-induced rage, smashing a Stony Plain Road pawn shop, and attacking Trevor strangers on the Grimolfson street.

Officers twice used the stun gun on the heavily tattooed man. He fell to the ground, and later died.

Despite public outcry on the use of Tasers, solicitor general Fred Lindsay and Police Chief Mike Boyd talks to the media, saying that the service is capable of investigating itself.

Premier Ed Stelmach stand by the practice, and are downplaying the role the device played in Grimolfson's death.

"Until more evidence becomes available, or until the technology studies prove otherwise, we have a very comprehensive system," Lindsay said yesterday.

An investigation has been launched by the Alberta Serious Incident Response team, an internal watchdog for police.

At a news conference yesterday, the premier refused to comment on whether a review should and will be made into the use of Tasers, but said he will be watching the investigation closely.

Police Chief Mike Boyd said little about the incident to reporters yesterday, but that he's confident the service is capable of investigating itself.

Williams said that while his friend was covered in tattoos and looked the part of someone you wouldn't want to tangle with, he was a good guy.

Williams' metal cover band, Ratt Poison, will be dedicating a show in Grimolfson's honour tomorrow at the Century Casino.

Expo bid not priority for Alta.: Premier

jeff.cummings@metronews.ca

Edmonton's bid to host a world's fair in 2017 isn't a priority for the province, Alberta's premier said yesterday, citing the current economic crisis for his lack of enthusiasm.

Premier Ed Stelmach says his government has already made commitments to help the city in its bid to host the University Games in 2015.

"Anything further from here has to be thoroughly reviewed," said Stelmach.

"I can tell you our commitments are health, education, infrastructure and we have to be very careful on making commitments down the road.

"If there are improvements to the economy ... then that's fine, but we've made commitments over the last number of months, commitments to seniors, commitments to crime. Those are priorities for the government."

City council unanimously voted this week in favour of moving forward with phase two of the bidding process in bringing the World Expo to Alberta's capital city in 2017 — with the expectation the province would match the city's $2.25 million to do it.

Mayor Stephen Mandel told reporters Wednesday the province was interested in helping host the Expo, but the deal would be dead without provincial investment.

It will take four phases to successfully bring the Expo to Edmonton that will cost city and provincial taxpayers upwards of $255 million. If successful, the city and the province could also spend up to $3 billion to host the event.

Mandel says much of this would add value and infrastructure to the city, long after the fair was gone.

Getting tough on repeat crooks

jeff.cummings@metronews.ca

Premier Ed Stelmach has a message for 60 of Alberta's worst criminals identified in a new strategy to tackle crime: "We will be watching you."

In another announcement to get tough on crime in Alberta this week, the provincial government plans to spend $10.4 million over the next three years to help police and probation officers target "15 per cent of criminals who commit 60 per cent of the crimes in this province."

Among the 60 criminals that police will keep a close eye on, 20 are from Edmonton and another 20 are from Calgary, said Stelmach.

"If you go back and re-offend, we are going to get you, but if you want to step up to the plate and clean up your life, we are here to help you in dealing with your addiction," said Stelmach.

Stelmach said the 60 criminals who are prone to clogging up the system commit crimes to fuel their drug addictions, and more supports will be provided to them if they ask for help.

"If we don't try and help them, they will keep on re-offending," said Stelmach.

Sheriffs and probation officers will closely monitor or supervise the offenders once they are released from prison.

Information about the criminals from the sheriffs and the parole officers will be collected at a central office that will be used by crown prosecutors to make comprehensive bail packages.

"This is something the law enforcement community should already be doing," said Alberta Liberal justice critic Kent Hehr. "This is a proposal that enforces what is already being done. Our bail officers are already doing this."

Downturn hits food banks

Canada's food banks may have a harder time feeding the poor this winter as the global economic crisis leads major companies to slash donations, the nation's food bank association said yesterday. While big companies provide the bulk of the food donations, individual giving has also dropped as economic gloom forces people to rein in spending, the association said. REUTERS

Tory ministers sworn in

Prime Minister Stephen Harper unveiled a new cabinet yesterday and vowed to defend Canada against a global crisis that he said was making it harder to predict the nation's economic future.

Finance Minister Jim Flaherty, who has become the face of Canada's effort to fend off the growing financial turmoil, stayed in his post as expected. He is due to attend a series of international meetings in the next few weeks on the crisis that is striking Canada with increasing severity.

"The economy ... will be job No. 1 in every aspect of our government," Harper told a news conference.

Harper added several junior ministers to the cabinet, with almost a third of all the jobs going to women. He made the changes after the ruling Conservatives retained power in the Oct. 14 election with a strengthened minority.

During the election campaign, both Harper and Flaherty promised not to run a deficit over the next four years, but they have since changed their tune.

Prime Minister Stephen Harper's new cabinet includes a new voice for Alberta that will defend Canada against a global crisis that is making the nation's economy more unpredictable, said his new labour minister — Edmonton Spruce Grove MP Rona Ambrose.

Ambrose said Harper has picked a diverse cabinet that will help Canada though an economic storm that has left many Canadians worried about their pensions and mortgages.

"We are dealing with certain economic times at the moment, and what Canadians want to see is stability," said Ambrose. "We are very focused on our economic agenda."

Ambrose moved up to her position as head of Canada's intergovernmental affairs, a role she was forced to take after pundits say was an unsuccessful stint as Canada's environment minister.

Calgary MP Jim Prentice is now environment minister after moving up from industry, while Jason Kenney, another Calgary Tory MP, has been rewarded as the head of the federal government's immigration department.

Calgary Nose Hill MP Diane Ablonczy is now minister of state for small business and tourism.

Iraqi Prez wants security deal done

Iraqi President Jalal Talabani urged a swift conclusion yesterday to a long-delayed security pact with the United States that would allow U.S. troops to stay in Iraq through 2011. The agreement, which will replace a United Nations mandate that expires at the end of the year, appeared finalized as late as last week, until Iraqi leaders said they were seeking several changes to the text. Washington is now reviewing the proposals. REUTERS

Economy worries U.S. troops

ELECTION Four years ago, U.S. troops in Iraq fretted about their buddies being killed in bomb blasts and wondered how the presidential race would affect the war.

Now, with violence in Iraq sharply down and the U.S. economy in danger, they are more worried about what the winner of the Nov. 4 election will do to rescue their savings and properties from economic collapse.

"I've been following this election more than any before ... The economy is a huge issue for us," said Sergeant First Class Nathan Shay, a U.S. soldier stationed in Baghdad.

"When you call home and you hear someone lost his job ... That scares me," said Shay, who comes from Wisconsin.

The U.S. economic crisis has become the central issue in the final days of campaigning between Democratic Sen. Barack Obama and Republican Sen. John McCain, eclipsing the war in which more than 4,000 U.S. soldiers have died since 2003. REUTERS

Candidates trade blows

Republican John McCain and Democrat Barack Obama duelled over the economy yesterday in the last stretch of their fierce fight for the White House, with McCain charging Obama would not do enough to rein in oil company profits.

McCain jumped on the record quarterly profits posted by Exxon Mobil, noting Obama had supported tax breaks for the oil industry in the 2005 energy bill and said, "When I'm president, we're not going to let that happen."

"Senator Obama voted for billions in corporate giveaways to the oil companies. I voted against it," McCain told supporters in Defiance, Ohio, as he tried to jump-start a comeback in a race that appears to be tipping toward Obama. REUTERS

"If I'm elected president, we're going to stop sending $700 billion a year to pay for oil from countries that don't like us very much," McCain said. "We're going to drill off shore and we're going to drill now."

Obama leads McCain in national opinion polls and in key states like Florida and Ohio with five days of campaigning left before Tuesday's presidential election.

At a rally in Sarasota, Fla., Obama referred to yesterday's announcement that the U.S. economy had suffered its sharpest contraction in seven years, and said the drop in gross domestic product reflected the failed Republican economic policies of McCain and President George W. Bush. REUTERS

What you need to know about

paying your 2008 Alberta health care premiums

Payments and registration. Keep them both current.

Albertans will no longer be billed for new health care premiums in 2009, however, premium payments owing to December 31, 2008, remain in effect. This means that Albertans must continue to pay 2008 premiums or, if applying for new coverage, register and pay the required premiums.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR PAYING 2008 HEALTH CARE PREMIUMS?

- All Albertans unless they qualify for premium assistance, government-sponsored income support programs, or are senior citizens.
- Employers and benefit administrators who collect and/or remit premiums on behalf of their employees.
- New Albertans who have registered for the Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan.

Alberta Health and Wellness will be collecting premiums beyond December 31 until all outstanding premiums are paid and will continue to pursue those collections. As well, those who are paying Alberta Blue Cross Non-group insurance premiums, or other supplemental health premiums, will continue to pay in 2009 as those premiums will remain in effect.

KEEP YOUR HEALTH RECORDS CURRENT AND REGISTER.

- If you have had a change in name, address, dependants or marital status, please notify Alberta Health and Wellness.
- New arrivals are required to register within three months of their arrival and will be responsible for any premiums owed for the balance of 2008.

For more information, visit www.health.alberta.ca or call toll-free 310-0000 then dial 780-427-1432. In Edmonton, call 780-427-1432.

Psych tests for wannabe priests

VATICAN Candidates for the Catholic priesthood should undergo psychological tests to screen out heterosexuals unable to control their sexual urges and men with strong homosexual tendencies, the Vatican said yesterday.

In a new document the Vatican said the early detection of "sometimes pathological" psychological defects in men before they become priests would help avoid tragic consequences.

Seminary rectors and other officials should use outside experts if they cannot handle the screening themselves, it said.

Benedict considers stalling on Pius XII

SAINTHOOD Pope Benedict told Jewish leaders yesterday he was "seriously considering" freezing the sainthood process of his Nazi-era predecessor Pius XII until historical archives can be opened, one Jewish leader said.

Some Jews have accused Pius, who reigned from 1939 to 1958, of turning a blind eye to the Holocaust.

It through history the great religions have spoken to the return of a future Teacher. The Christians hope for the return of the Christ, the Buddhists look for the coming of a new Buddha, while the Muslims await the Imam Madhi, the Hindus a reincarnation of Krishna and the Jews the Messiah. How will we know Him? Surely He will ring our hearts with a message of sharing, justice and brotherhood. How can we prepare the way for Him? Each day brings opportunities, large and small, to act in favor of unity and justice. Our willingness to share will make a real difference in our world.

How You Can Get Super Rich With Edmonton's Commercial Real Estate!

• Apartments • Offices • Retail • Medical • Warehouses • Industrial • Hotels & Resorts •

Discover Why Commercial Properties are Easier to Own, Pay Greater Cash Flow, and are More Profitable than Owning Rental Houses... And Anyone Can Do It!

Edmonton, AB — It's no secret that commercial real estate is legendary for its ability to "multiply" your net worth. And this year is poised to be one of the best years ever to invest in commercial property and secure your retirement.

The Wall Street Journal reported:

"commercial real estate is showing solid fundamentals in many markets — with occupancies high, increasing rent growth and supply under control."

Now you can get a complete overview of what it takes to be successful in your own hometown.

Free Workshop Reveals How to Own Commercial Real Estate in the Calgary and Edmonton Areas

This FREE 90-minute introductory workshop shows you how you could own lucrative commercial real estate in as little as 60 days. You'll discover how it's possible to:

- Increase the worth of a commercial building by up to 30% in 30 days
- Quickly pinpoint the value of a building — no calculator needed
- Determine the highest and best use for any property

Plus...

- How simple paperwork can add huge value to your property

Don't Let These Myths Stop You From Owning Commercial Real Estate!

MYTH: Commercial real estate is too expensive.

REALITY: It can be the best bargain in real estate. Fact is, it can cost no more out of your pocket to acquire a commercial property than to buy a house. Even acquire properties with little or no money down.

MYTH: Commercial real estate is too complicated.

REALITY: It can be easy. Buying your first commercial property can be no more complicated than buying your first home.

MYTH: Commercial real estate is too volatile.

REALITY: History shows it can be much more stable than investing in houses, especially in the market we're in today. Plus get property value appreciation, tax benefits, and higher income.

The Biggest Myth of All...

MYTH: Only the rich can afford commercial real estate.

REALITY: Commercial property makes you rich, but you don't need to be loaded with cash to get started. Find out why at this amazing free workshop: How To Make Money With Commercial Real Estate.

My education at UCLA taught me how to work for money, but not how to make my money work for me. I was working night and day as a hotel manager in California when a billionaire guest pulled me aside and said, "Cherif, come work for me. I will show you the path to wealth."

I learned how to acquire properties, how real estate deals are structured, and how billions are made. On a much smaller scale, I also began to buy my own properties and develop a personal system for creating wealth.

Today, I have property all over the world. And yet, I work less than ever.

Let me open the door to wealth for you just as the billionaire once did for me. Learn my 12 steps to wealth. It all begins at my FREE workshop.

For Beginners & Seasoned Investors!

Now you can learn ways to master the art of commercial real estate and get a complete overview of what it takes to be successful in your own hometown.

You'll get an up-close view of the best types of commercial property to invest in now, and the hidden properties with big payout potential that often go overlooked, including:

- Finding prime commercial real estate in your area before it hits the market
- Investing in property using other people's money
- Starting with a positive cash flow
- Getting immediate cash back
- Locating properties that can subsidize your retirement

It's OK to Start at Zero, as Long as You Start

Some of today's most successful real estate investors started with nothing. Like me, banks wouldn't talk to them. They had no personal assets. No money. Now you can find out how it's possible to overcome the obstacles and go from $0 to millions.

At my FREE 90-minute workshop, you'll discover how to find hidden real estate gems, how to structure risk-free deals that make you wealthy, and how you can do this quickly in your local real estate market or any area you choose.

Women got a raw deal in U.S. election campaign

OmniVision

Rick McGinnis

rick.mcginis@metronews.ca

his U.S. election cycle has been an ugly and divisive one, by any standards. As Canadians, we have the front rows on the bleacher seats for the big event, and get to see the blood and hear the broken bones much more intimately than most other countries. Still, we can't take part, but if anyone south of our border — or west of it, since Alaska has played a role of unprecedented prominence this time around — is listening, I have a suggestion to make, one offered with my tongue only slightly in cheek.

I am urging American women not to vote in this year's election. I realize that ignoring your franchise and rebuking the 19th Amendment — if only for one election — sounds absurd, especially in such a hotly contested election, but hear me out.

This has been an extraordinarily depressing election to witness, based on what I'm hearing from women on both sides of the political divide.

"I cannot predict who will win the presidential campaign," wrote women's rights advocate Helen McCaffrey in the Philadelphia Inquirer this week, "but I already know who will lose big: all women."

She describes a young male student at the community college where she teaches, wearing a "Sarah Palin Is A C__t" t-shirt "without shame or even consciousness of what he was doing." She recalls attending a Barack Obama rally where the mention of Palin's name "drew shouts of 'stone her.'" She laments that "instead of engaging Palin on the issues, critics attacked attributes that are specifically female. It is Hillary's pantsuit to the power of 10."

It was hard to ignore the treatment Hillary Clinton got in the bitter fight for the Democratic nomination, almost entirely from members of the media and political classes that identified themselves as liberal, or as supporters of her party. After this election, it's hard to imagine a bright woman in either party willingly allowing herself and her family to endure this gauntlet of character assassination.

"Thank God for election 2008," lamented Wendy Button, a speechwriter for Clinton, John Edwards and Obama, on the Daily Beast political website.

"We can talk about the wardrobe and make-up even though most people don't understand the details about Senator Obama's plan with Iraq." A lifelong Democrat, she despairs at how her party has turned on two female candidates with such retrograde, belittling rhetoric.

It's neither likely nor perhaps even desirable, but if half of U.S. voters withdrew their franchise in protest, it would wreak havoc with pollsters and campaign operatives at the very least, and delegitimize a dispiriting and tainted election at best. It's a slap that would perhaps bring otherwise intelligent people back to their senses, and restore some decency to a process that has devolved into a shameful rebuke of a woman's right to participate in their country's political life.

Rick McGinnis writes about music, movies, books and television, but not opera.

Nov. 1 has been designated as International Volunteer Manager Day, a day to recognize the amazing contributions of volunteer managers worldwide.

In the Edmonton region there are more than 8,000 nonprofit/voluntary groups who rely on volunteers. Behind these volunteers are a group of dedicated individuals passionate about keeping the spirit of volunteerism alive in our communities. Their role is vital — they recruit, train, coordinate and support volunteers.

Most importantly, volunteer managers are the people who work hard to make sure volunteers are happy, respected and acknowledged for their valuable contribution.

Volunteer Edmonton salutes these volunteer managers everywhere for the important work they do. Volunteering brings people together — at festivals, to deliver human services, in schools, on playing fields and in board rooms — for good reasons and common purposes.

Volunteering helps build better, stronger, healthier communities.

Dead on arrival — or it's alive, it's alive!

Watching yesterday's cabinet shuffle, one can only wonder if Mr. Harper has built something that will actually come alive — like Pinocchio, the little wooden boy created by the carpenter Geppetto.

What people tend to focus on, of course, is Pinocchio's nose, which grows when he tells a fib. But that's just the underscore of the story. The real and most astonishing thing is that he comes alive — that he lives, talks, dances and actually gets to do things, like all the other real children.

So, yesterday the prime minister created his own piece of woodwork, building a fairly large cabinet, already assessed by pundits as "bloated," full of "under performers and newcomers," "a recognition of the GTA," "more women have a say," — with a slight emphasis on continuity.

John Wright

After all, in these unsteady times, ministers of finance and defence keep their posts because their portfolios are battlefields — and the last thing you want to change is leadership mid-fight.

But far more germane to many a scribe is this: up until this moment, a gaggle of cabinet ministers hasn't mattered worth a hill'o beans to most. It's been about one guy named Harper who called all the shots — all the time. And, while prime ministers have the right to do that, it became apparent this one — and his enablers — was going to dictate script and pull every string. Not to be trusted, except for a couple, cabinet ministers were like sea captains who were given fine ships and crews — and sent off to sea, never to be heard from again.

But, as the summer began, there were some staff changes in the prime minister's office: old guard communicators and policy chiefs were out, new, albeit experienced, folks from Ontario, in. And just before the election we actually got to see one or two cabinet ministers actually talk to the media — seemingly independently.

But it was the morning after the election that political observers noticed a real sea change. At his press conference, the PM looked and sounded humble, even co-operative. Pundits cocked their ears: there was something definately there — and it wasn't just weariness. Could this be the beginning of something new? Was the Ice Man thawing; warming the chill from the way things were run before?

So that's what the smart people are really wondering about in the aftermath of this shuffle. Is there really going to be more open, consensus building, a less partisan and less vociferous government and House of Commons?

The only way to know is to watch whether these cabinet ministers actually come alive, like Pinocchio, and voice their own thoughts — or whether Mister Geppetto will keep pulling the strings so tight his puppets will wish they were put to sea.

John Wright is Senior Vice President and Managing Director of the North American Public Opinion Polling Division of Ipsos Reid companies could air their signals without paying a so-called "fee for carriage." Such fees would have likely been passed along to consumers — likely meaning a $2 to $10 jump in monthly bills.

"All of the major companies in the last few years have managed to consume billion-dollar (advertising) deals," CRTC Chairman Konrad von Fincken-stein said. "So clearly the industry is not on the verge of disappearing. So we denied the fee for carriage ... there is just no economic rationale for doing it."

A Rogers Communications Inc. official welcomed the ruling, which they said could have added millions in costs and meant higher monthly bills for subscribers.

Oilers lose fifth straight in Nashville

NHL RESULT

Predators 3 Oilers 1

ROBIN BROWNLEE
for Metro Edmonton

THE SKINNY: It's five straight losses for the Oilers as they played better, but couldn't get it done to open a seven-game road trip. Goals by Patric Hornqvist, Shea Weber and Martin Erat were plenty for rookie Pekka Rinne, who made 27 saves to backstop the win.

THE BIG PLAY: Nashville led 2-1 in the third period when Ryan Jones knocked Tom Gilbert off the puck. David Legwand grabbed the loose rubber and fed it to Erat, who snapped it past Mathieu Garon at 9:57.

MISLEADING NUMBER:

Rinne came in with a bloated 12.86 goals-against average and .625 saves percentage after allowing three goals on eight shots in 14 minutes in his only previous appearance this season.

DROUGHT CONTINUES:

The Oilers have scored just five goals and been shutout twice in this five-game losing streak.

INFERIORITY COMPLEX:

There's no getting around the fact Nashville swept all four games from the Oilers last season, but Edmonton's media guide lists a loss to the Predators last Feb. 19 as "55-4." It was 5-4.

THE NEXT GAME: The Oilers travel to Carolina to take on the Hurricanes Saturday in a rare afternoon (1 p.m.) start.

Ladislav Smid is checked into the boards by Radek Bonk during the Oilers 3-1 loss.

Alouettes at Eskimos

ROBIN BROWNLEE
for Metro Edmonton

THE SKINNY: Strafed for 98 points in their last two games and relegated to a crossover playoff date against the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the 9-8 Eskimos are trying to regain their equilibrium before post-season begins after a 43-28 loss to B.C. and last weekend's 55-9 debacle against the Saskatchewan Roughriders in Regina.

CRUISE CONTROL: At 11-6, the Alouettes have had first place in the East Division long locked up.

KEEP AN EYE ON: Ricky Ray. He took a head shot from Saskatchewan's Maurice Lloyd early in the game last weekend and never recovered. Ray went 10-for-18 for just 99 yards passing before being pulled in favour of Jason Maas.

ANOTHER LOOK? Tailback A.J. Harris has been getting first-team reps this week and could be back in the backfield after sitting out with a quad injury against Saskatchewan. Defensive end Brandon Guillory could also be back in place of injured Jim Davis.

THE NOMINEES ARE: The Esks nominees for the 2008 Gibson's Finest CFL Player Awards are: Ricky Ray, Outstanding Player; Kamau Peterson, Outstanding Canadian; Jason Goss, defensive player; John Comiskey, offensive lineman and Tristan Jackson for top rookie and special Teams.

A neutral site for the World Series?

The weather woes in Philadelphia earlier this week are producing proposals for drastic changes to future World Series. Former major-league manager Whitey Herzog, for example, is leading a movement for Series to be played at neutral venues that could seat 75,000 spectators in domes or warm-weather stadiums. "You could call it World Series Week," Herzog said. "You've got the old school saying you'd take the Series away from the home fans and all that, but that's stupid since hometown fans (because of high ticket prices) don't get to see the World Series anyway." I like it.

"My success led me to think about how I could make a real and lasting difference in Canada," Howard, a Harvard graduate, explained. "How could I help Canada have more golden moments? I come from winning in a rowing eight, where we push and help each other achieve excellence. Now that I've achieved my dream, I can help other athletes achieve theirs. I have had the opportunity to meet many Canadian athletes. We all share the passion, the dedication and the dream. Unfortunately, most of us struggle financially. Shortly after the title dissolves from the screen at the beginning of Changeling, it's immediately followed by three words — a true story.

If you don't remind yourself of that over the next two-plus hours, you might find this drama somewhat overwrought.

Directed by legendary icon Clint Eastwood — who only gets better with age — Changeling tells the emotional journey of Christine Collins (Angelina Jolie), a single mother in 1920s Los Angeles who comes home to find her son missing.

Following weeks of searching relentlessly, the police suddenly show up with her child, reporters in tow. Great. Only there's a catch: It ain't him.

The problem is that in 1928, the corrupt LAPD had a horrendous public-relations dilemma, so some clod in the force thought it'd be a slick move to replace Collins' son with another kid, hoping she wouldn't notice.

When she obviously and very publicly does, the LAPD does the only thing it can: Make life hell for the poor mom.

Now, what was it rappers NWA used to say about the LAPD again?

Jolie gives a striking, distraught performance of a woman in a time of excessive subservience, rising up against her persecutors "and the horse they rode in on." As pedestrian as those words read, she makes them sing.

Meanwhile, Eastwood creates a moody, authentic world here, capturing great performances and turning a seemingly diminutive tale into compelling drama. As bulky as this film is, its riveting story never tires, and more so, it inspires.

In today's political climate, it's no mistake that many films are decrying the power of institutions and heralding the characters that rise above them.

Who knew that at age 78, Eastwood was still a rebel?

Angelina Jolie delivers a striking performance in Changeling.

RocknRolla cool and fun

RocknRolla

STEVE GOW

REVIEW Man that Guy Ritchie just can't catch a break. In his hometown of London — where RocknRolla has already been released — critics have unfairly panned the British director's latest film.

It seems the central complaint with RocknRolla is that it's too similar to those ol' nuggets of cinematic yore. Like those acclaimed crime dramas, RocknRolla does explore a familiar criminal element of the London underground; namely those involved in a complex real estate scam gone wrong.

We have the hard-edged mobster (played to perfection by Tom Wilkinson), a Russian billionaire (Karl Roden), a petty street crook (Gerard Butler) and many other seedy characters.

Sure, a lot of the appeal is all flash and visual flair, and the overload of subplots does complicate matters, but one cannot overlook how fun the dialogue and double-crosses are. So what if RocknRolla may be familiar turf; if you miss the Guy Ritchie of the '90s, you will appreciate what you're in for.

PHIL BROWN
 for Metro Canada

REVIEW Zack And Miri Make A Porno hits screens amidst a sea of controversy. The initial poster was banned in America and several multiplexes are refusing to play the film ... and all because the word "porno" is in the title.

If any of the offended parties actually watched the film, they would discover that it is actually a very sweet romantic comedy about two best friends discovering their love for one another. Granted they discover it while having sex on camera for a quick buck — but it is very sweet nonetheless.

There's only one man who could have made this movie and that's Kevin Smith. Ever since his inspirational micro-budget debut, Smith has been the reigning master of raunchy dialogue-driven comedies-with-heart.

Over the last few years, the writer/director has seen his once controversial style enter the mainstream thanks to filmmaker Judd Apatow. But rather than be upset, Smith has welcomed members of the Apatow ensemble into his team. Seth Rogan, Elizabeth Banks, Justin Long, and Craig Robinson have joined Smith veterans Jason Mewes and Jeff Anderson to create one of the best movies of Smith's career.

Summarizing the plot is pointless because the title says it all. It's also a good litmus test. If the title makes you laugh you'll probably enjoy the movie. The film is every bit as raunchy and hilarious as you'd imagine.

Make no mistake; this is a silly R-rated comedy that certainly won't go down as one of the greatest films ever made. But the characters are so well drawn, the underlying message so sweet, and the jokes so consistently funny.

This Bond girl is 'different'

Movie feature

rick.mcginis@metronews.ca

Olga Kurylenko has joined a long line of iconic actresses who've assumed the mantle of Bond girl.

The Ukrainian born model made an impressive debut in a series of French films before being cast in Quantum Of Solace as Camille, a Colombian out for revenge after the death of her parents, a revenge that ends up complementing Daniel Craig's Bond grieving quest to avenge the death of Vesper Lynd (Eva Green) at the end of Casino Royale.

What remains to be seen is whether Kurylenko will join the ranks of Bond co-stars such as Diana Rigg and Halle Berry for whom Bond meant merely a role, or disappear with Daniela Bianchi, Lois Chiles, Claudine Auger and Carey Lowell into Bond footnotes.

In either case, she'll have a unique place among the tiny minority of Bond co-stars who don't end up in bed with the British superspy.

"She's different," Kurylenko says about her Camille. "She's like a Bond in a female body. She's almost equal to him. What is nice is that in this film she has her own story — she exists without Bond. She has her own thing to do, her own mission. She's like his reflection."

As for Craig as Bond, Kurylenko has nothing but praise. "I thought he was one of the best Bonds. Everyone has their own opinion, but he's more believable. He's tough — you believe he can break your neck. They had to change, so he's a good one."

Quantum Of Solace director Marc Forster came to Bond from a very different place. The Swiss director is better known for more intimate, even arty films such as The Kite Runner and Monster's Ball.

He echoes Kurylenko's assessment of what she brought to Bond.

"I saw tapes from all over the world, beautiful women, but either they couldn't act in English, or they weren't real enough or didn't have any depth. And then I met 15 women in London, and I thought 3 or 4 were interesting, and I had them read with Daniel, and I thought Olga was the most truthful and would be a good mirror image for him."

FEATURE What do Ben Stiller, Chris Rock and Cedric the Entertainer have in common? Well, if you guessed they all deliver the funniest lines in the new animated hit Madagascar: Escape 2 Africa, you'd only be partly right.

Returning to their respective vocal roles from 2005's huge family hit, Madagascar, those funny-men — along with no less than three other voice talents — all come from a stand-up comedy background.

"(Producers are) looking for somebody that can make whatever they write funny or funnier somehow," insists Cedric the Entertainer. "I think the idea is that (comedians) can at least bring it to life because that's the hardest part about it: (voicing) in a room, doing it by yourself with nobody else to bounce it off of."

David Schwimmer, Jada Pinkett Smith, Ben Stiller and Chris Rock are voicing roles in Madagascar: Escape 2 Africa.

It's true. Like most animated films, Madagascar: Escape 2 Africa — in theatres next Friday — recorded most of its performances separately. Sure, it sounds like an easy gig — you read your part, collect a cheque and go home — but as Ben Stiller attests, it's not that simple.

"I think the key is you want it to be fun," says the actor. "If you go (into the recording studio) and you're down or if you're low energy or you're not into it that day then it's not going to be a good session and you're probably going to have to come back."

This comedy is definitely not short on spirit. Stuck in Madagascar, Alex the lion (Stiller), Marty the zebra (Rock) and the rest of the Manhattan zoo-raised crew try to return home only to get as far as Africa, where they soon discover their roots.

As with the first film, the jokes are fast, furious and come from all angles — so all that comedic energy must've been an asset...or was it?

"They encourage ad-libbing and there's a lot of funny stuff in the script but at the same time (producers are) more concerned with the story," insists Rock.

Hathaway learned to love Kym

RICK MCGINNIS
Metro Canada

FEATURE If you've had anything like a normal life, you've probably known someone like Kym, the character Anne Hathaway plays in Jonathan Demme's Rachel Getting Married — opening next week.

Emotionally draining and endlessly self-justifying, Kym is the centre of her own pre-Copernican emotional universe — her own worst enemy, but everyone else's as well if only because of her inability to tell the difference between honesty and an inability to edit herself.

When Hathaway sits down for an interview after the film's premiere at the Toronto International Film Festival in September, I couldn't help but tell her that, as much as I respected her performance, I've known my share of Kyms, and time spent with them is like a colonoscopy. "Thank you," Hathaway laughs. "With or without anesthetic?"

"One of the things I love about Kym is people's reaction to her. I think that's an awesome interpretation of her — Kym is the kind of person I would be friends with and I am

"I wasn't as concerned with making her sympathetic as much as I wanted to make sure people understood that however she is, whatever your interpretation of her is, she's being absolutely herself."

tions or limits, and it opened my heart. This character really changed my life and the way I view the world."

Hathaway's Kym is already attracting Oscar buzz, and one of the journalists at the TIFF table with Hathaway and Demme asks if she feels pleased that she's exceeded the expectations of people who might only know her from films like The Princess Diaries.

Hathaway is visibly irritated by the question, and says that, "I've never defined myself by the way other people did ... It's always been about 'be yourself, be yourself', well the person I've always been is an actress."

"Are you saying it wasn't cool to do something completely different?" Demme loudly bursts in, mischievously goading his leading lady.

"Of course it was cool to do something completely different?" she shouts back at the director.

"But not for the reason he was asking me. It wasn't cool because I'd done The Princess Diaries. It was cool because you're a f-king great director, and Kym's an amazing character. That's why it was cool."

"It was cool on its own merit," she says, "not because it was a response to anything."

PHILIP BROWN

REVIEW Dating back to the 1950s, French filmmakers have always had a remarkable ability to take pulpy American crime novels and elevate them to the level of cinematic art.

There are many examples of this phenomenon, but sadly Tell No One is not one of them. This stylish thriller by part-time director and full-time actor Guillaume Canet is very well-constructed and dripping with style, but the movie is little more than a brilliant set-up in search of an ending.

The film is about a doctor named Alex, who thought he witnessed his wife's death, but suddenly finds himself the primary suspect as her killer when dead bodies are found at the murder site eight years later.

The same day, Alex sees a video on the Internet suggesting that his wife might still be alive. The film then becomes a race against time with Alex attempting to prove his innocence before the police can nab him for her murder.

The actors are excellent across the board, with an amazing lead performance from Francois Cluzet, who runs the full gamut of emotions throughout the film.

Director Canet also stages some quite impressive set pieces as well including a lengthy foot chase throughout Paris that is as exciting as anything coming out of Hollywood. All of which makes it even more disappointing when the movie turns to the contrived. With a more carefully crafted finale, this could have been a classic French thriller. Without it, the experience is merely frustrating.

High School Musical 3: Senior Year

REVIEW It's very likely that only a handful of adults — those with children too young to drive at home — have seen the previous two High School Musical incarnations that follow the dancing and singing students of Albuquerque's Eastside High. This is the first in the series to be made for the big screen — the other entries were made for TV — and it is a much better visual experience for young viewers, with more singing and dancing than the previous two. Adults can actually attend the movie without too much fear. Sure, the storyline is very basic, and squeaky Mickey Mouse-clean — you may doze off occasionally — but there is great energy in this film.

Max Payne

REVIEW Max Payne is another hit video game-turned-Hollywood blockbuster. As the title character, Mark Wahlberg is an angry, maverick cop who is determined to find the savages who killed his wife and child. Shirking his civic duty, Payne conspires with a sexy assassin — Mila Kunis of That '70s Show — and discovers a dark underworld that may be connected to otherworldly demons. Payne knows its limitations and makes no apologies; it has absolutely stunning choreography and brooding Wahlberg was made for this kind of role. Further, and maybe most importantly, this movie is big, brash and perhaps better than any other video-game adaptation out there.

Heartbreak and Intimacy

New disc let Bloc Party frontman dish on split

IAN NATHANSON
for Metro Canada

Whatever reputed breakdown occurred between Kele Okereke and his former significant other in late 2007, the singer-guitarist frontman for Bloc Party needed an outlet to vent his feelings on the matter.

"Translucent and sun bleached skin, when did you get so L.A./how can you desert me after all we've been through/Stuck on a dream that somewhere it's better/You'll be the one missing out," Okereke sings on the electronica-meets-new wave One Month Off, from the British outfit's third full-length, Intimacy.

"A lot of stuff went on in the past year with my personal life that really had a huge effect on me," Okereke tells Metro, though tight-lipped on the details. "I didn't want to try and think too much about what I was saying — I wanted to write from an emotional perspective ... just get it out there and move on to the next thing."

"But in writing songs for this record, I want people to see this not only about a relationship breakup but also a celebration of a love — about falling in love and being in love. It doesn't always have to be negative."

Besides, there has been enough negative-leaning talk about Okereke — from British media speculation about his sexuality to a reported backstage dust-up between the 27-year-old and The Sex Pistols' Johnny Rotten during a summer music festival in Spain — that it almost overshadows Bloc Party's more significant changes of late.

First, Okereke, guitarist

Russell Lissack, bassist Gordon Moakes and drummer Matt Tong have ditched the traditional indie-rock stylings of their 2005 success story, Silent Alarm, and 2007 follow-up, A Weekend In The City. For Intimacy, Bloc Party veers into electronica-based territory and experimentation with Okereke's vocals — though maintaining Tong's fierce backbeats.

"In the 21st century, rock music should be taking more from electronica," Okereke says. "I know many bands will tell you the best records have been made between the 1950s and the 1970s. But with all the new technology available, why not have rock music embrace something a bit newer?"

Second, the band has opted to follow what's becoming a recent trend in the industry by releasing the new album digitally in August, two months ahead of this past Tuesday's physical CD release.

Bloc Party frontman Kele Okereke, foreground, says recording new album, Intimacy, allowed him to vent about a breakup.

"I remember being a 16-year-old and how it was such a big deal when I bought a record by a band I liked and everyone else bought the same record and we were all talking about that record at the same time," Okereke says. "Now that we've built up an international fan base, why not just deliver a record to our fans at the same time, rather than have somebody leak out the record online long before it comes out?"

• They Want Us to Buy Vinyl Again? Listening to actual vinyl records is on the rise again, which has precipitated a series of vinyl re-releases by everyone from Led Zeppelin to the Sex Pistols. Let's see: They got us buying vinyl, then converted us to tapes, told us to upgrade to CDs, wanted us to move to digital downloads ... and now we're back to vinyl?

• Battle of the Divas: While all the attention has gone to the cage match between new albums from AC/DC and Guns N' Roses, there's a catfight set for next week when Britney Spears, Beyoncé, Leona Lewis and Christina Aguilera all release new albums. Too bad Mariah Carey is sitting this one out.

• Madonna's Divorce: Rumours were that Madge wouldn't allow anything other than steamed fish and chicken to be served in the house. If Guy wanted a burger, he had to go down to The Punchbowl, his local pub. Don't feel bad for him, though. Part of the hushed-up settlement involves him getting Ashcombe House, their $20 million, 1,200 acre estate. He might even get $20 million more just so he keeps his mouth shut.

• Johnny Rotten Butter: The former singer of the Sex Pistols is starring in a British TV commercial for Country Life Butter. No, I'm not making that up.

• Since It's Halloween ... A poll out this week on the 20 creepiest celebrities named Marilyn Manson at number 1 with a 76 per cent "creep factor." Michael Jackson finished second and Courtney Love ranked 11th. Keith Richards was 14th.

• Op-Ed Bono: He's got a new gig writing columns for the New York Times. This just goes to show that if I can get a column, anyone can.

Television

Strong signs of Life on Mars in reworked show

IntelleVision

Rick McGinnis

rick.mcginis@metronews.ca

BACK TO LIFE After following its demolition derby production history over the course of the summer, and imagining its primetime première as an event somewhere between the opening weekend of Gigli and the second season of Joey, I was pleasantly surprised by ABC's reworking of the BBC's time-traveling cop series Life On Mars.

This is probably why you haven't heard much from me on the subject — it's so much harder, and much less fun, to say something nice when there are so many nasty subjects abounding on the crowded plateau of TV news. Still, it's turned into a decent bit of TV that might actually get a chance to attract an audience in this season's leper's parade of shows.

Besides Harvey Keitel, who manages to be both ubiquitous and watchable — try saying the same thing about Jimmy Smits, say, or Jude Law a few years ago — one of the show's real pleasures is Michael Imperioli's take on the role of Ray Carling. As played by Dean Andrews on the British show, Carling was a relentless thug, too dim to ever take the place of his hero, DCI Gene Hunt, but with an endearing, sometimes dog-like side that redeemed him.

It's turned into a decent bit of TV that might actually get a chance to attract an audience in this season's leper's parade of shows.

Imperioli's Carling is much smarter, a wisecrack machine loaded to the handlebar moustache with musky '70s masculinity. "When this came along I really liked the character, I really liked the story, I liked the ideas they had for casting, and I liked being able to stay home with my family," Imperioli told the New York Times in a profile of the actor this week, one that also speculated on the show's rocky production history, which saw an almost total recasting of the show after a pilot was filmed, and a move from Los Angeles to New York City for both the setting and production.

"It is rare that a show gets piloted twice," said Gary Newman, co-chairman of 20th Century Fox Television, one of the show's producers. "I think a big part of it was, you look at the version shot in Los Angeles, and it just didn't feel like 1973; it wasn't authentic. The wardrobe, the hair, the music, the buildings — it honestly is a kind of an amazing reproduction of the era."

Run through my handy television execution decoding ring, that means that the people behind the L.A. version had better have friends at the other networks, and that the New York crew had better have a few too if the show doesn't end up getting renewed. I'm quite happy to tuck into my meal of crow at this point, if only in the hope that the success of the ABC version will finally get a DVD box set of the BBC original on the store shelves here.

Rock won't hold back

for Metro Canada

One of the more exciting aspects of HBO Canada finally starting up in the Great White North — it launched yesterday — is that, along with great cutting-edge dramas, it will also be bringing the funny.

One man who knows this better than most is actor and comedian Chris Rock. "HBO is stand-up comedy," Rock says with a laugh. "It's the only place you really get to do it." Rock should know. About to stun Canuck audiences with a hard-hitting fifth HBO stand-up comedy special entitled Kill the Messenger — it premieres tomorrow night — Rock will again push boundaries on a measure of topics including the U.S. election, parenthood and race with his patented unhinged, but honest manner.

"It's not just language, it's topic, too," Rock explains. "Sometimes people say, 'why don't you do a stand-up movie?' Because if I do a joke about abortion, it's going to make it an X (rating)." Rock further points out most people don't realize the numerically-based language constraints that sidle making a film. For example, if you script a particular word that starts with a 'p' and defines a certain part of the female anatomy, "more than two times, you're an X (rating)," says Rock.

"There are all these weird little rules that just (define a movie). HBO — they just let you do whatever you want to do."

In brief

RENEWED E! Entertainment Television has picked up its half-hour reality series Denise Richards: It's Complicated for a second season. Production on the series will begin early next year.

CASTING ABC has ordered a comedy pilot in which actress Courteney Cox will play a newly single 40-year-old mom with a 17-year-old son. It comes from Scrubs creator Bill Lawrence.

Moon Frye and Goldberg renew their vows
Actress Soleil Moon Frye and her husband, producer Jason Goldberg, renewed their vows at their Hollywood Hills, Calif., home on Saturday after 10 years of marriage.

Protesters mob Olsens' event

CONTROVERSY A book-signing for fans of twin actresses Mary-Kate and Ashley Olsen took an ugly turn when they were bombarded by a legion of angry protesters wearing mocking masks of the pair, imdb.com reports.

Fans lined up to meet the 22-year-old moguls, who were recently celebrating the release of their new coffee table book, Influence. But the pair were stunned to find animal-rights activists shouting outside the event — part of a campaign launched by People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) against the stars for their fashion choices.

"People who still wear fur haven't woken up to the fact that a big, dead animal on your back makes you look like a troll," a PETA spokesperson tells WENN. "Compassionate fashionistas know that real beauty comes from the heart."

Victoria to pose in underwear

PEOPLE Victoria Beckham is set to follow in the footsteps of her soccer ace husband David when she strips down to her underwear to model for fashion house Armani, imdb.com reports.

The former Spice Girl will debut as the "worldwide testimonial" for Emporio Armani Women's underwear in the spring/summer 2009 campaign. The collaboration comes months after David Beckham stopped traffic by posing scantily clad for the designer. His ad was unveiled on a massive billboard in California last June.

"Who better than Victoria Beckham to launch our new global Emporio Armani underwear campaign?" Giorgio Armani said in a statement.

Biel regrets photos

IMAGE Actress Jessica Biel regrets being pressured into topless shots for a men's magazine, imdb.com reports.

Biel was reportedly persuaded to pose for the racy pictures in 2000 to shed her angelic image. But she admits she now regrets agreeing to the photo shoot.

"It was supposed to show me being sexier and more mature," she says. "The idea was: Look at me — I am a woman, growing up. I had male managers at the time, who were really excited about the photo shoot. The truth is, though, I was in way over my head. I remember calling my dad and saying: 'I screwed up. I went too far and did not stand up for myself.'"

Reid wants to start a family

FAMILY Actress Tara Reid is reportedly desperate to start a family, hinting that she is trying for kids with current boyfriend Julien Jarmoune, imdb.com reports.

The pair began dating after setting up Reid's new clothing line together.

And she doesn't want to wait to settle down and start a family, telling People magazine,

"I'm ready to make a family. I want two children, a boy and a girl. And a traditional wedding, the big dress, the princess thing. What every little girl dreams of."

Long tired of dating celebs

RELATIONSHIPS Justin Long has sworn off dating another celebrity because he hated having his relationship with ex-girlfriend Drew Barrymore splashed out across the tabloids, imdb.com reports.

The actor ended his year-long, high-profile romance with Barrymore in July. Gossips have since linked him to another Hollywood starlet, Kirsten Dunst, but Long insists he's not interested in another A-list romance. "It's not something I would ever consider a good thing," he tells People magazine.

Winehouse is not losing her voice

RUMOUR Singer Amy Winehouse has shot down rumours she could lose her voice because of drug use, insisting she is hard at work on her new album, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

Winehouse was said to have returned to rehab last weekend, but it later emerged she had been treated at the London Clinic for a respiratory problem.

She has since posted a video on her website, telling fans she plans to release new material soon.

Joe O'Neill

Joe's take on celebrities

don't enjoy thinking about the Olsen Twins, but the crusading pinheads at PETA spent a few hours yesterday protesting the fact that the girls exercise their prerogative to wear, gasp, fur. You know PETA, the group that does its part to end cruelty to animals by showing us pictures of naked models and sending out such moral paragons like Heather Mills McCartney to publicly shame celebrities who choose to wear fur, eat meat, smile or tell them that the Easter Bunny doesn't exist.

PETA's targeting of the mini-moguls doesn't end with public demonstrations, though. They've also created an online game featuring characters named Hairy Kate and Trashy Trollsen, displaying the kind of rapier wit that always seems to grace people who are the most earnest about the least important things.

Now that the PETA loonies are stepping up their anti-Olsen onslaught, I'm no longer going to be able to perversely enjoy the sensation of my stomach turning as I watch their wretched performances in New York Minute, It Takes Two or Full House reruns. I'm going to have to sympathize with them.

Although, come to think of it, they spent their formative years around Bob Saget, which should be enough to earn them sympathy, even without PETA's antics.

Recipe of the day

Poached Salmon with Dill Sauce

INGREDIENTS:

- 4 fresh or frozen and thawed salmon or halibut steaks, 3/4 inch thick (about 6 oz / 175 g each)
1 cup (250 mL) dry white wine or low-sodium chicken broth
1 small yellow onion, thickly sliced
2 lemon slices
4 sprigs parsley
4 whole black peppercorns

DILL SAUCE:

- 1 tbsp (15 mL) butter or margarine
1 tbsp (15 mL) all-purpose flour
2 tsp (10 mL) finely chopped fresh dill or 3/4 tsp (4 mL) dried dill weed
1/2 tsp (2 mL) sugar
1/8 tsp (0.5 mL) salt
1 large egg yolk, lightly beaten
1 tsp (5 mL) lemon juice

METHOD:

1. Rinse fish and pat dry. In a large skillet, combine the wine, onion, lemon slices, parsley and peppercorns. Bring to a boil. Arrange salmon in a single layer in wine mixture. Bring back to a boil. Lower the heat and simmer, covered, for

5 to 8 minutes or until fish flakes when tested with a fork. With a slotted spatula, carefully remove salmon from the skillet; keep warm. Strain and reserve 1 cup of the cooking liquid.
2. To prepare dill sauce, in a small saucepan, melt butter over moderate heat. Whisk in flour, dill, sugar and salt, and cook for 1 minute or until bubbly. Add reserved cooking liquid. Cook, whisking constantly, until mixture starts to thicken. Slowly stir about 1/2 cup (125 mL) of the hot mixture into egg yolk, then return this mixture to the saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, for 1 to 2 minutes or until mixture thickens (do not boil). Stir in lemon juice.
3. Spoon some of the dill sauce over the salmon. Serve with remaining sauce.
